MEMES?

Internet memes, influenced by Richard Dawkins' concept in 1970s, are cultural items spread through the Internet, encompassing ideas, behaviors, or styles, predominantly propagated via social media platforms in diverse formats like images, videos, GIFs, and viral sensations.

Image/Infographic

Any humorous image that spreads rapidly online to convey relatable or cultural ideas.

Gif

A looping, animated image format used to convey info in a continuous sequence.

Short Video

A brief visual short clip that conveys a message or story in a concise format.

INSPIRATION

The inspiration to build this meme directory stems from the desire to create a platform where creativity meets opportunity, allowing users to share laughter and earn from their viral genius.

Inspiration 1

There is no platform to monetize images, like there is YouTube for videos.

Inspiration 2

There is no directory of Info graphics like Memes and Gifs on the internet.

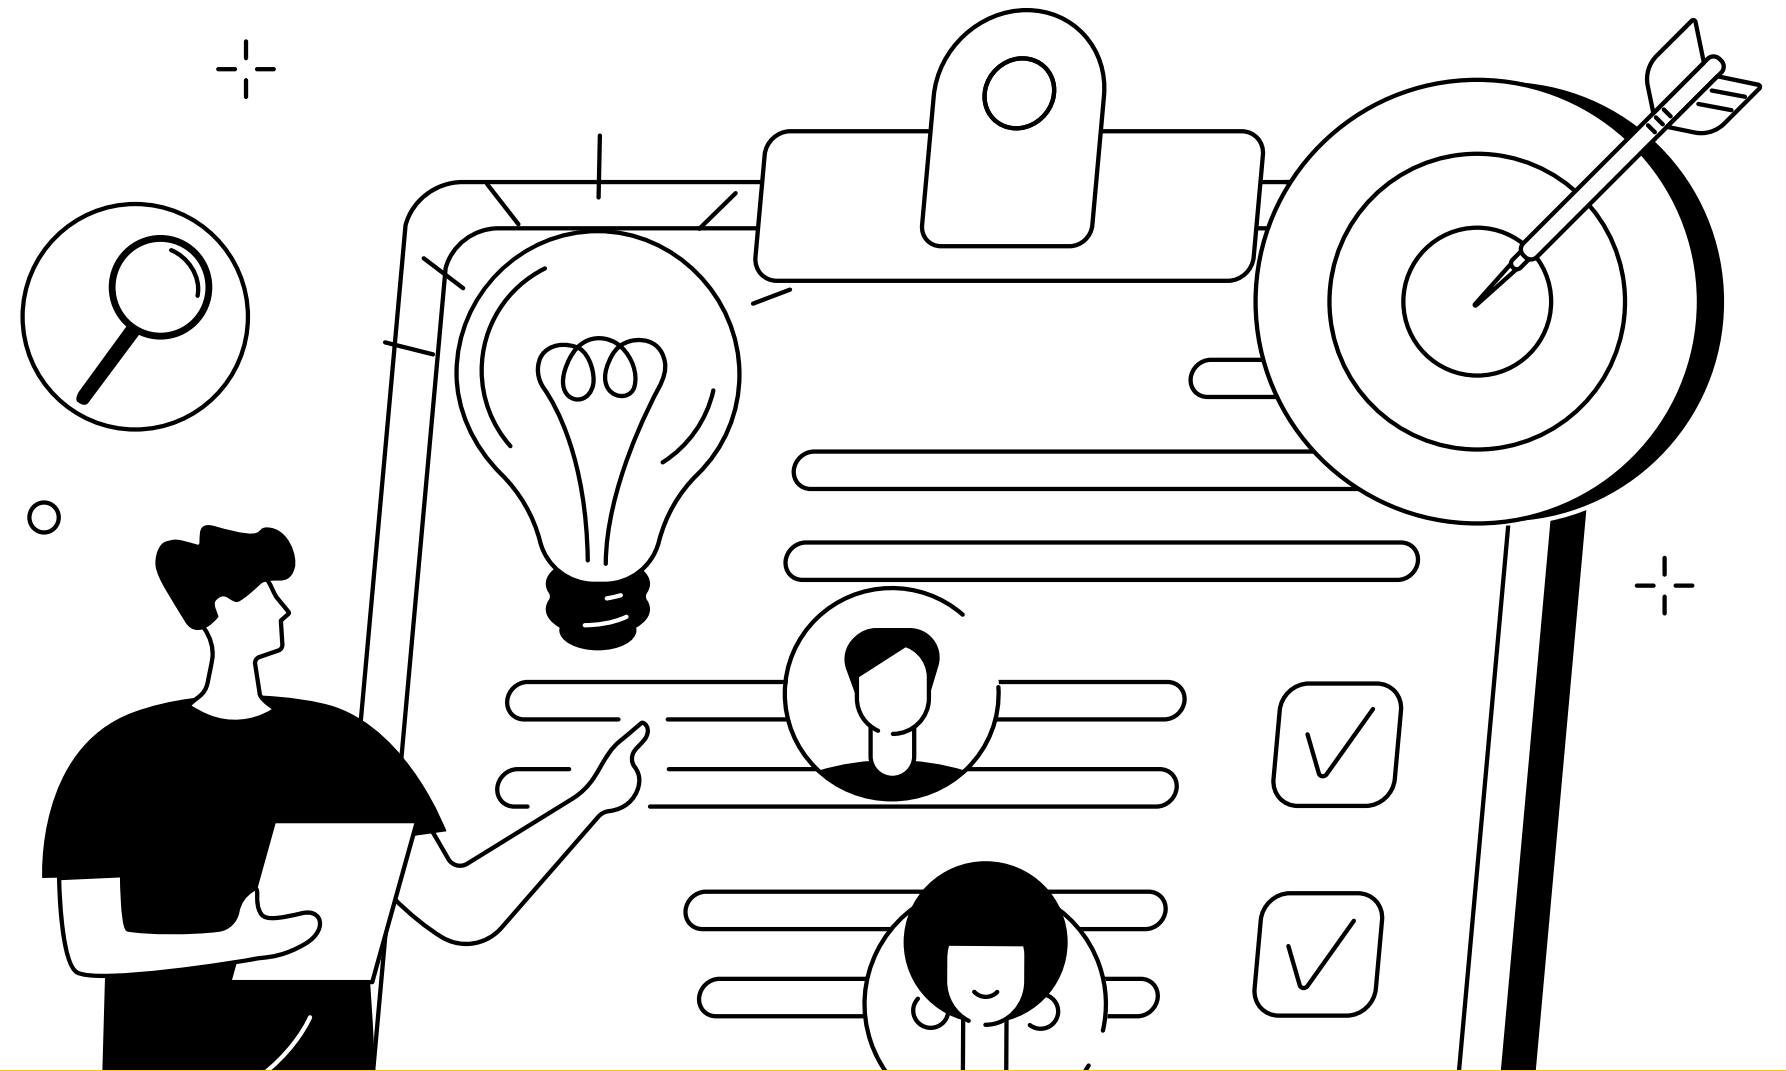

Inspiration 3

Memes are dominating the marketing industry and there is no platform for meme wars as well.

PURPOSE

The idea of MemeSake was conceived in order to build the largest directory of memes on the internet.

INTENTION

This platform works like a social media, but we're focused on high quality content for which we're paying our users for sharing their best content

MOTIVE

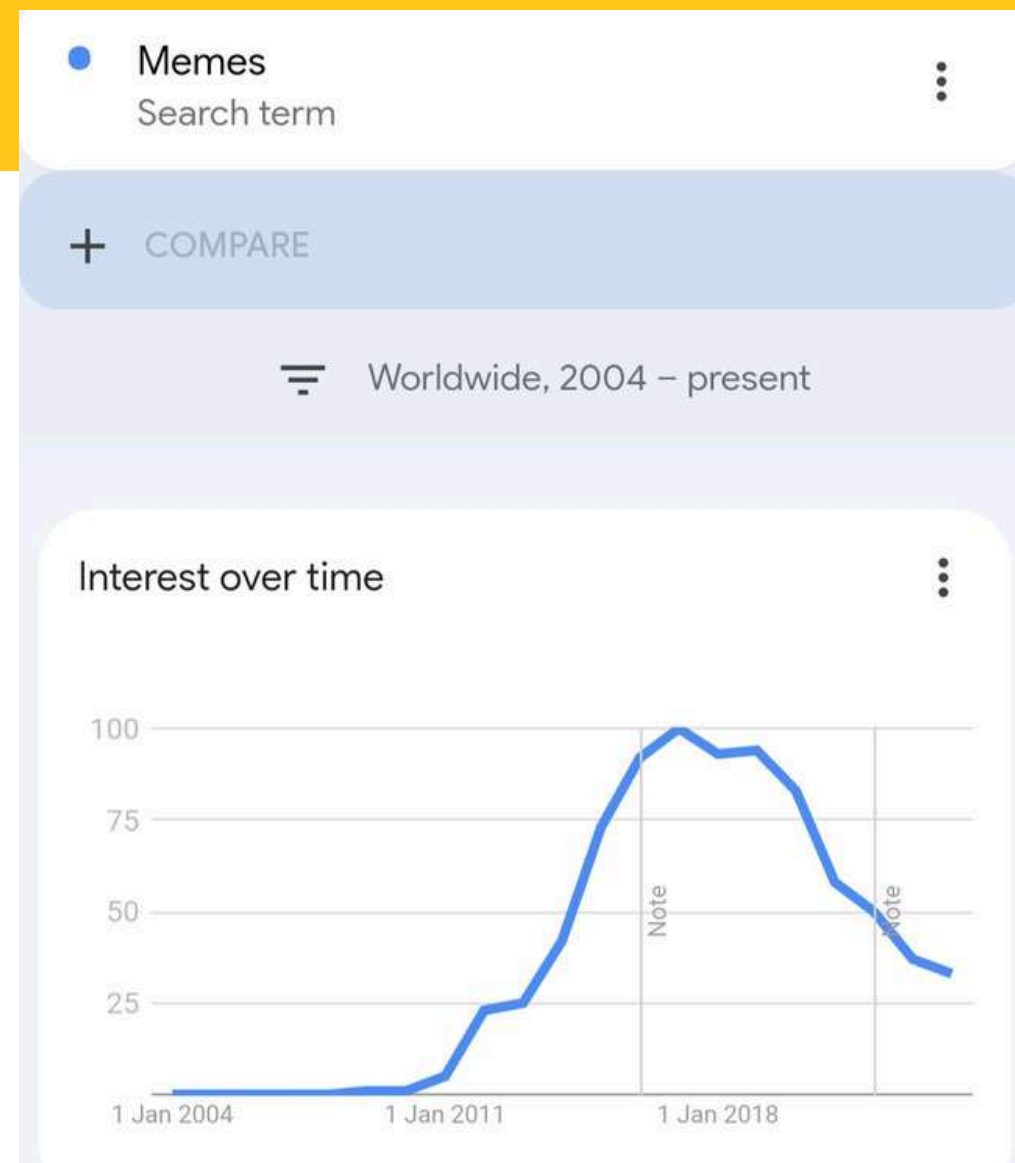

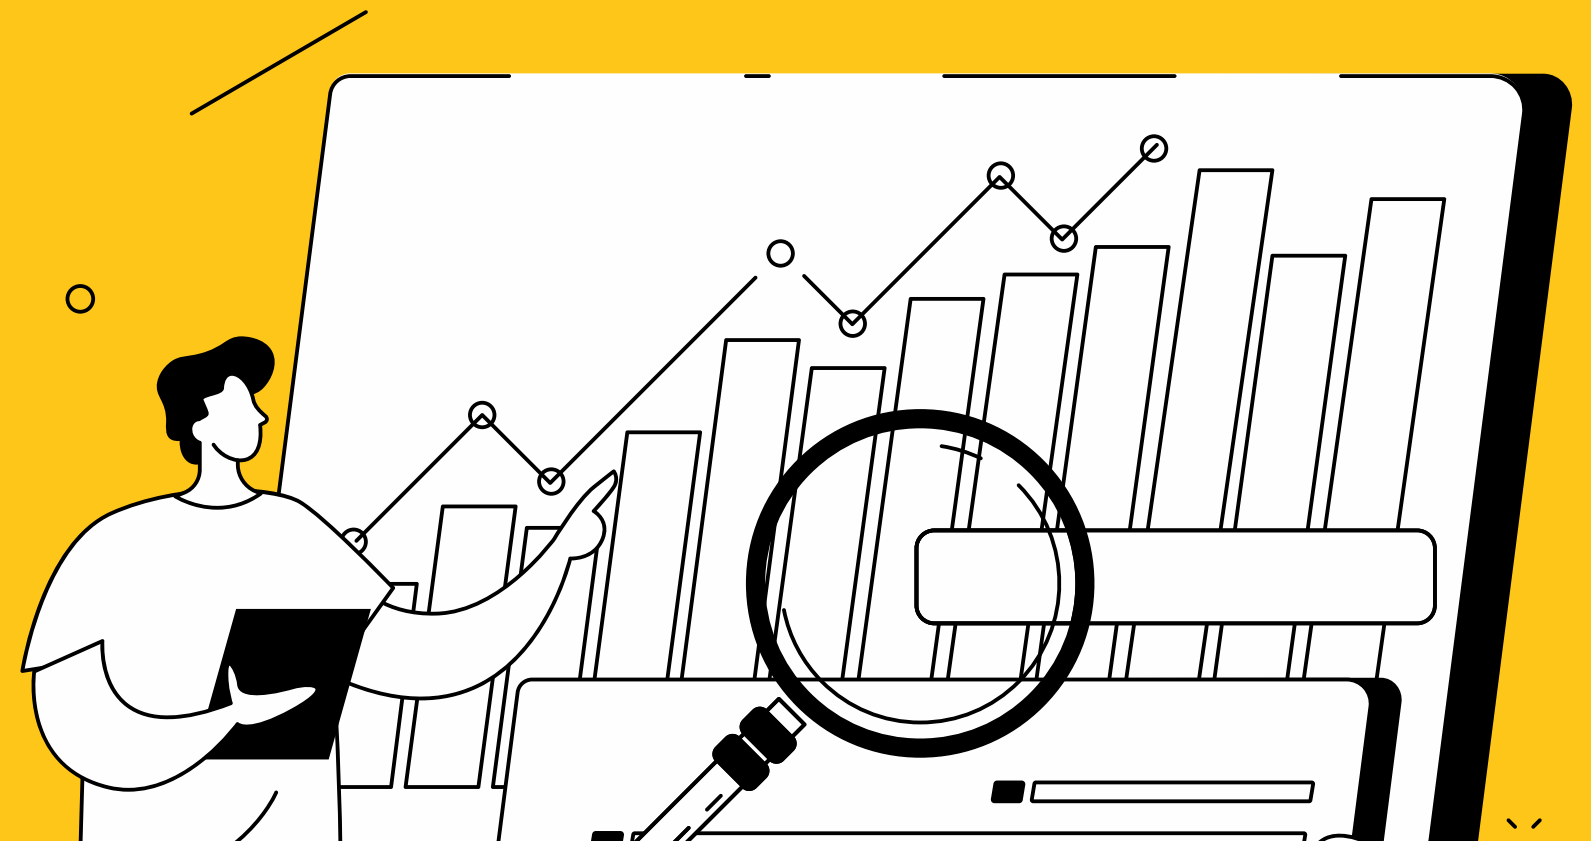

Our search results bring the most popular content with our specifically designed algorithm for updated content exhibition.

OBJECTIVE

We're heading to reach on the top of all search results on major search engines, for searches related to all kind of memes

WHY NOW?

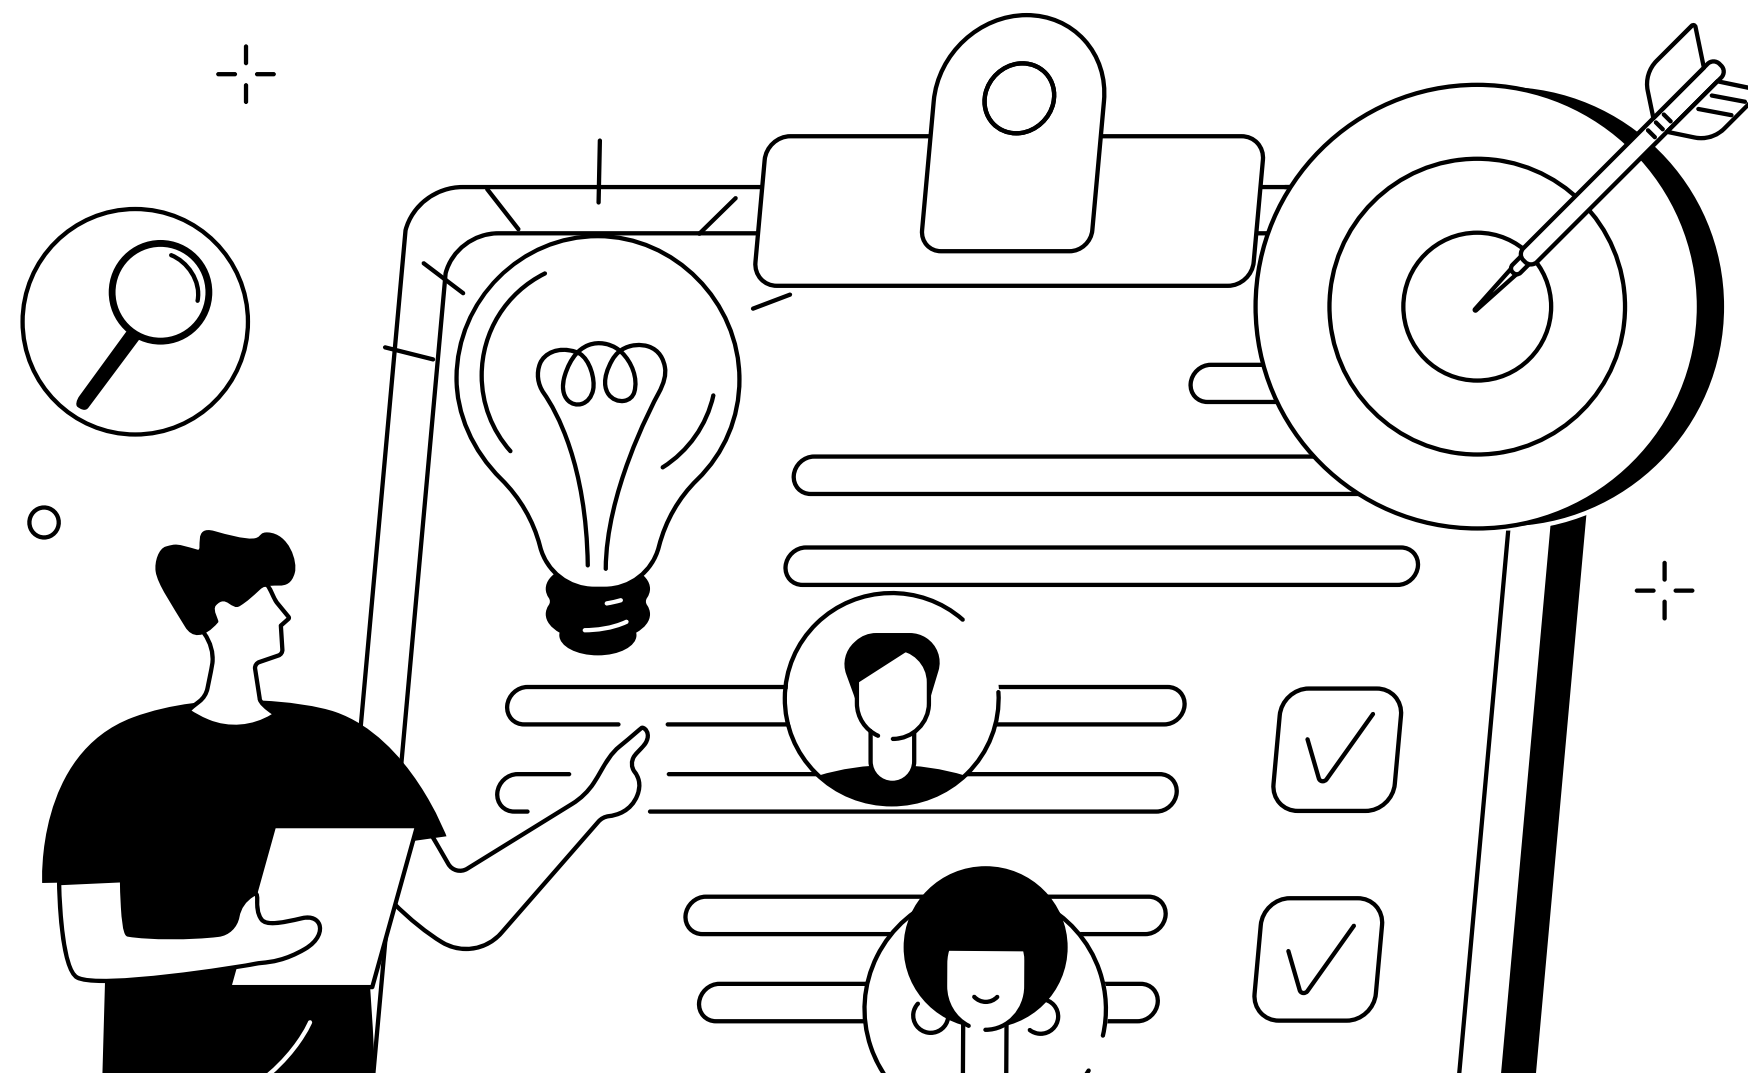

As you can notice, users wildly searched for memes on Google, about half a decade back. It's not that memes are losing their charm. It's just that users are dependent upon social media, rather than search engines, for memes. Infact even the well renowned brands have started investing in meme marketing, since it is evolving at a much higher pace. So here's the catch about MemeSake. It's going to work exactly like a social media platform for its users, but the end results will make it a big directory.
