

Ecocys

Bringing Bharat's Retail Fashion
Ecosystem Online

The Problem

Fragmented Sourcing

Fashion retailers struggle with limited access to diverse suppliers across India's textile hubs

Cash Flow Issues

Credit barriers prevent retailers from scaling while manufacturers face payment delays

Digital Gap

Traditional retailers lack tools to compete online with national brands

Limited Reach

Without digital tools, retailers struggle to expand beyond their local area, restricting growth opportunities.

Market Opportunity for Ecocys

- Fashion e-commerce in India: $21.6B (2025) to $98.5B (2032), 24.2% CAGR.
- Online fashion retail: Projected $36B growth by 2029 at 22.2% CAGR.
- Textile industry: $146.6B (2024), targeting $350B by 2030.
- Quick commerce: $5.5–$7.1B by 2025, fast growth in smaller cities.
- Retail fashion market: $60.1B (2024), rising demand for digital tools.
- Growth drivers: Large Gen Z/millennial market, 800M+ internet users, strong government support.

With rising digital adoption, demand for hyperlocal fulfillment, and strong government and consumer tailwinds, Ecocys is uniquely positioned at the intersection of India's $22B+ fashion e-commerce surge and $150B+ textile powerhouse—unlocking opportunities across B2B2C commerce, logistics, and next-gen retail.

Retailers

Ecocys recognizes that sourcing in India remains heavily dependent on trust, personal relationships, and regional preferences. That's why we blend digital ease with real-world experience.

- Pan-India Coverage : Retailers can browse an extensive online catalog covering major fashion hubs—Surat, Jaipur, Delhi, Tiruppur, Mumbai, and more.
 - On-Ground Experts : Our regional sourcing teams assist in live procurement from manufacturing and wholesale clusters, handling negotiations, inspections, and logistics, especially for retailers with limited digital exposure.
- Access to wide sourcing options (online/offline)
 - Quick credit to fund inventory
 - Digital tools to compete with national brands
 - Ultrafast delivery to local customers

• Consumer

- Consumers can purchase from their trusted, neighborhood retailers via Ecocys's digital platform.
- Enjoy ultra-fast home delivery—often within one hour—for both local and national fashion products.
- Benefit from a wider range of trendy, locally-made, and national brands in one place.
- Hassle-free returns, either online through an easy process or offline at the retailer's physical store.
- The platform blends local trust with digital convenience, driving increased customer satisfaction and repeat business.
